One-of-a-kind hospice in line for a £100,000 funding boost

By George Welch

A CASH-STRAPPED hospice that cares for terminally ill children and young adults could be handed a financial boost from Oxfordshire's healthcare provider for the first time.

The much-loved Helen & Douglas House our charity of the year could receive £100,000 a year from the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group – but it would not be enough to reverse the impending closure of one of its facilities.

Instead the East Oxford hospice, which says its needs around £115,000 more to provide the level of support it should, would use the cash to support Helen House which provides palliative care for terminally ill children.

Representatives from Helen & Douglas House and the OCCG met earlier this month after more than 48,000 people signed a petition to secure government funding.

Speaking at a special debate in the House of Commons, Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran raised concerns over July's closure of Douglas House which provides adult services and how the hospice receives no support from the OCCG.

The Lib Dem said: "This is an incredibly important matter – Helen House was the world's first children's hospice, founding the children's hospice movement across the world.

"The sort of care provided there is world class and one of a kind. I'm sorry to say those services are under threat."

Clare Perston, chief executive of Helen & Douglas House welcomed Ms Moran's support and confirmed initial productive discussions with the OCCG had taken place.

She added: "Sadly this extra funding will not stop the in-patient function of Douglas House closing at the end of July but it will help our plans to ensure Helen & Douglas House continues to provide vital care to local families with terminally ill children and young people."

The OCCG told this newspaper that Helen & Douglas House was able to bid for contracts.

In a statement, a spokesperson said: "The OCCG keeps all palliative care services under review and Helen & Douglas House can bid for contracts.

"OCCG is keen to look at a more collaborative approach to end-of-life commissioning. This would involve groups of organisations getting together to provide care and would help to support smaller providers like Helen & Douglas House.

"OCCG is keen to pilot collaborative working with Helen & Douglas House and has offered £100,000 a year for a project to work with the OCCG and providers to look at the palliative care pathway for children."

Running in harmony for good cause

OXFORD turned orange on Sunday as more than 5,000 natives and university runners united to raise funds for Muscular Dystrophy UK.

The Oxford Town and Gown race, now in its 37th year, attracted amateur and professional athletes and fancy dress runners.

Event manger Jessie Keighley said: "With lovely sunny skies and a cool breeze we had the perfect conditions for runners and spectators.

"It was particularly special to see Mike Cleaver, who founded the event back in 1982, starting the runners off.

"We'd like to thank everyone who came for making it such a brilliant day and we look forward to seeing you all again next year."

Mike began the run after his son passed away from muscular dystrophy.

The event has gone on to raise more than £2million for the charity in the intervening years.

Turn left at Twitter Lane and you'll find LOL Alley

By George Welch

CONFUSION reigned on the streets of Oxford last week after the city's road signs had an inventive social media themed makeover

Residents were able to take a stroll down Hashtag Walk after a mysterious 'artist' placed a series of fake road signs around the city

Oxford City Council has since removed the signs, first spotted last Tuesday after saying they made the city difficult to navigate

About 28 of them were discovered, with the signs seen displayed in streets and alleyways across the city

The signs were all related to social media and were named the likes of Snapchat End, Facebook Row, Like Square, OMG Crescent and LOL Alley

Other street names included Whatsapp Lane, Share Passage, Emoji Alley, Tweet Close, Unfollow Way Facebook Way, Google Walk, Retweet Way, Twitter Lane and Delete Lane

The 'artist' behind the makeshift signs goes by the name of 'A34

The anonymous individual previously claimed responsibility for adding fantasy locations Middle Earth, Gotham City and Narnia to road signs in Didcot earlier this year

Oxfordshire County Council subsequently removed them because of their distracting nature.

Justifying his most recent work, A34 said he wanted to highlight the public's obsession with social media

Creating an illusion: Just some of the signs which appeared around the city

He said: "Our relationship with social media is like a modern gothic tale. The social media companies sucking data from us like vampires drinking blood.

"But we have great collective power and can drive a stake through the heart of those corporations, should we fall out of favour with them."

He added: "I created my signs so that they appear fake upon close inspection, however once they are photographed, they look three dimensional and look unquestionably real. It's an illusion, in the same way that much of social media is an illusion."

A34 deemed the prank was disruptive saying: "I'm not destroying property. I'm not a vandal, I'm just merely somebody who is creating and helping people enjoy art."

However the city council did not see the funny side and a spokesperson confirmed all the signs have been removed.

Care workers deny all abuse charges

THREE care workers have denied abusing elderly patients they were looking after at a Wallingford care home.

The trio of women, who all worked at Winterbrook Nursing Home pleaded not guilty to all 18 counts alleging neglect and ill treatment of six people.

Elizabeth Collins, 61, of Kynaston Road, Didcot, denied three counts of ill treatment/wilful neglect of an individual and six counts of breaching a care provider's duty of care resulting in ill treatment/neglect of an individual.

Mary Craddock, 59, of Egerton Road, Wallingford, denied five counts of ill treatment/wilful neglect of an individual.

Joan Lovell, 83, of St Leonard's Lane, Wallingford, denied two counts of ill treatment/wilful neglect of an individual and of breaching a care provider's duty of care resulting in ill treatment/neglect of an individual.

The charges relate to incidents between April 2015 and July 2017.

They all appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Friday. They were released on bail ahead of their trial at the same court on October 8.

Boy, 10, threatened

A 10 year-old boy was threatened with a knife in Banbury after he refused to hand over a phone.

He was with three other boys when he was approached by four older boys, aged 12 to 13, in Princess Diana Park on May 5.

One asked the 10-year-old to hand over his phone and pulled out a knife when he refused at around 5.30pm to 9pm. No one was injured.

Call police on 101 with information.

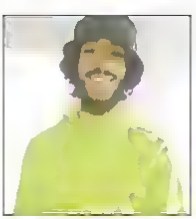
Murder trial hears evidence 'disposed of'

EVIDENCE in the case of an Oxford man who died of his injuries after being "savagely attacked" was deliberately disposed of to hinder police investigations

Christopher Lemonius, 27, died on June 1 last year after sustaining more than 80 injuries following an attack in Jourdain Road, Blackbird Leys

The personal belongings of six men who deny murder and four others who deny perverting the course of justice had never been found, prosecution barrister Stuart Trimmer QC told Oxford Crown Court.

The jury heard that Mr Lemonius was "savagely attacked" by a gang and that clothing worn by the defendants, which was seen on a Premier store's CCTV, could not be found.



Savagely attacked: Christopher Lemonius sustained more than 80 injuries leading to his death

Mr Trimmer said clothes and some mobile phones were disposed of in an active plan to pervert the course of justice

CCTV coordinator Det Con Deborah North of Thames Valley Police said 81 CCTV exhibits had been seen by investigating officers

Those charged with murder include: Yousef Koudous, 27, of Balfour Road, Yasine Lamzini, 19, of Jourdain Road, Rashaun Stoute, 23, of Church Cowley Road, Connor Woodward, 24, of Haldene Road, Otman Lamzini, 24, of Jourdain Road and Carlos Spencer, 26, of Wynbush Road

The trial continues.

Calls for councillor to resign over 'hateful' posts

AN Oxford City councillor who shared posts on Facebook comparing Israel to Nazi Germany and claiming cancer doesn't exist has resigned the Labour whip

Cllr Ben Lloyd-Shogbesan shared "extremely disappointing" and "hateful" material on his personal Facebook page deemed "anti gay and anti-Semitic" by rival councillors

Cllr Lloyd-Shogbesan has deleted his Facebook profile and said he was "very sorry for any offence"

Posts shared on the Labour councillor's page compared Israel to Nazi Germany, praised Colonel Gaddafi and alluded to same sex marriage as "endorsed perversion"

Last week, Cllr Lloyd-Shogbesan released a statement saying "These posts do not reflect my views now and I apologise for having disseminated them and implicitly endorsed them."

The Labour party has been dogged by claims of anti-Semitism in recent months, with Labour's Oxford City Council leader Cllr Susan Brown calling the posts "extremely disappointing."

She added: "Anti-Semitism or any form of discrimination has absolutely no place in the party."

Green Cllr Craig Simmons called for the Labour councillor's resignation over the "hateful" and "anti-gay and anti-Semitic" posts

Oxford Conservative Association deputy chairman Mark Bhagwandin slammed the councillor's "suitability to represent Oxford's residents"

Cllr Lloyd Shogbesan will keep his seat in Lye Valley but as an independent

Recycling environment post

GREEN guru John Tanner has stepped down as Oxford's member for the environment after 10 years in the role

The Labour councillor who announced his decision on Sunday stood down from Oxford City Council's executive board on Tuesday

Mr Tanner has been in charge of the environment at the council for 10 years leading on projects such as the annual green week and the world first Zero Emissions Zone being planned for the city centre

The 72-year old said. "Holding the brief for recycling, clean air and climate change in Oxford has been a wonderful opportunity great fun and a real privilege.

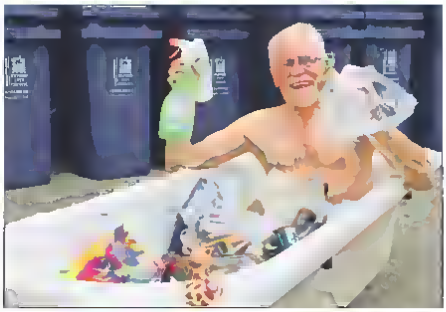
"We have an excellent bunch of Oxford Labour councillors, more than ever before, and it's time to let somebody a bit younger take on the role

"I m thrilled we now recycle half of all household waste are introducing the UK's first Zero Emission Zone and are well on the way to shrinking the whole city s carbon footprint by 40 per cent by 2020 "

Cllr Tanner, a city councillor for 28 years will continue to serve as a Littlemore representative

But now he wants to spend more time focusing on other duties, including building links with Oxford's various twin towns.

Cllr Tanner's replacement is Tom Hayes Visit tinyurl com/ycbb8zf to view the new cabinet in full.



Stepped down: John Tanner said it was a privilege to serve as Oxford s board member for the environment which has involved a variety of publicity

Cyclists injured

POLICE are on the hunt for the driver of a silver car after a woman was injured in a hit and run in Donnington Bridge Road.

The 29 year-old woman was struck at 8 40am on Tuesday last week and taken to John Radcliffe Hospital with minor injuries She was discharged the same day

Officers want to trace the driver of a silver vehicle who they said failed to stop at the scene

Contact police on 101 quoting reference '270 of 8/5' with information.

Another cyclist was left with minor injuries after a crash two days later

Officers were called to a collision between a car and the cyclist near St Aldate's police station at around 7.30am.

The cyclist suffered minor injuries The road remained open but buses were temporarily rerouted.

Detained after threat

A MAN suspected of terrorising a Marston shopkeeper with a broken wine bottle has been detained under the Mental Health Act.

Police said a 19-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of robbery following an appeal last week.

The robbery happened at the Premier store in Salford Road shortly before 4pm last Tuesday

A man became aggressive when the shopkeeper refused to sell him cigarettes

He smashed a wine bottle and threatened the shopkeeper before fleeing empty handed. No one was injured.

On-demand bus service launch

By George Welch

AN Uber for buses will be launched in Oxford next month to reduce congestion in the east of the city

Oxford Bus Company will launch the on demand scheme to reduce congestion and improve services in the city s Eastern Arc.

The PickMeUp app, described by the company as the UK's most ambitious demand responsive bus service will allow workers, students and members of the public to order a bus to a virtual stop

Passengers can request a pick up and a mini-bus will go to the nearest safe pick up point.

Journeys – costing £2 50 per ride –will be matched to others travelling on a similar route.

An additional £2.50 will be charged if the trip could be made via an existing bus route.

Oxford Bus Company managing director Phil Southall said "Though we have great bus links to and from the city centre from the eastern arc, for some time now connectivity has been a challenge for routes across the east of the city

"We believe our new service will help where traditional bus routes do not work commercially "

He added. "The app has similarities to other ride sharing products such as Uber Pool.

"It s a bit like a car pool, only bigger – and you never have to drive yourself. It s cheaper than a taxi and comes whenever you want it."

Oxford Bus Company has invested £850,000 in six 17-seat ultra low emission mini-buses creating 17 jobs

The scheme, set to launch on June 25 will cover a 12.2 square mile area, encompassing Oxford Station, Oxford Science Park, Oxford Business Park, the hospitals and Brookes University

It uses technology developed by global tech firm Via, which operates similar schemes in New York and Chicago.

David Brown the chief executive of Go-Ahead Group which owns the Oxford Bus Company said it will help businesses get staff to work in a quick, simple, convenient and cost-effective way

The service will operate between 6 30am and 10 30pm Monday to Friday and between 9am and 8pm at weekends, with an expected average response time of around 10 minutes

Uber experience: Passengers can request a pick up from a virtual stop

Man jailed for beating partner

A DANGEROUS man who punched his partner so hard he knocked out several of her teeth has been jailed.

Richard Walton, of Bagley Close, Kennington, also broke her fingers by slamming them in a car door and, on another occasion, assaulted her by beating.

The 40 year-old was sentenced to 28 months in prison last Tuesday at Oxford Crown Court.

He pleaded guilty to two counts of breaching a restraining order, two counts of causing grievous bodily harm and one count of assault by beating.

Walton committed the offences between October and December 2017.

He contacted his 50 year-old now ex-partner on a number of occasions despite having a restraining order in place to prevent him from doing so.

Investigating officer, Detective Constable Chris Bennett from Oxford Force CID, said: "Walton is a dangerous man who physically and mentally assaulted his then partner.

"I would like to thank the woman for her diligence and bravery throughout the investigation and court process and hope that she can now move on.

"In prison, Walton will be out of her life and away from the public."

He added: "I hope this shows that we will stop at nothing to help victims of domestic abuse to break free from violent relationships and get justice for what they were made to suffer."

Volunteers rewarded for selfless support

NINE invaluable volunteers have been recognised for their dedication to others.

The group of selfless helpers were awarded individually for exceptional voluntary work in Oxford.

Councillor Jean Fooks, in one of her last duties as Lord Mayor of Oxford, handed out Certificates of Honour during a special ceremony at Oxford Town Hall last week.

Cllr Fooks, whose term as Lord Mayor ended on Tuesday, said: "The Certificates of Honour mark the many varied and often unrecognised services undertaken in the city of Oxford by invaluable volunteers.

"It is a great honour to celebrate the achievements of these individuals as one of my last duties as Lord Mayor of Oxford.

"Without their dedication, support and selflessness, much of what is delivered in this city would just not happen."

Councillor John Cook was sworn in as the annual mayor-making ceremony during an Oxford City Council meeting on Tuesday.

Those to receive Certificates of Honour were:

Gill Begaer – fundraising for the Oxford Cancer Centre

Bas Crook - listening volunteer for Oxford Samaritans

John Hester - 15 years of service as a volunteer for Archway

Cat Kelly - organising Folk Arts Oxford voluntarily since 2012

Raymond Lee - more than 30 years of service as a volunteer with St John's Ambulance

Elaine Steane - more than 15 years of service as a volunteer reader for AllCh

Alice Street Sodan - voluntary service with St John's Ambulance since 2012

Bill Tallett - service as a listening volunteer for Oxford Samaritans

Stuart Waddington – supporting the homeless both in Oxford and internationally

InBrief

Buongiorno Padua

OXFORD City Council has signed an agreement to recognise and build up links with an Italian city.

Although not an official twinning, the deputy mayor of Padua signed a memorandum of understanding with Oxford's outgoing Lord Mayor, Jean Fooks.

The event was held last Wednesday Europe Day.

Oxford University and Università degli Studi di Padova are currently tied through the Sub Faculty of Italian at Oxford and Italianistica at Padua in northern Italy.

The city council recently announced it is also looking to twin with Polish city Wroclaw.

If both Padua and Wroclaw are twinned, it would mean Oxford would have seven twin cities.

It is already formally linked to Bonn, Germany, Grenoble, France, Leiden, the Netherlands, Leon, Nicaragua and Perm, Russia.

Car wash plan

AN empty industrial unit near Cowley could be transformed into a drive-through car wash and cafe.

Plans to convert a Peterley Road unit into a hand car wash with a cafe above have been submitted to Oxford City Council.

A consultation on proposals will close on May 23 and a decision could be made by June 19.

First new secondary for decades planned

By George Welch

A SOON-TO-BE-BUILT school faces a race against time to open next year and provide much needed school places after making a breakthrough this month.

A planning application for the 1,260 pupil Swan School, the first new secondary school in Oxford for decades, has finally been submitted.

The free school, to be built on the site of the current Harlow Centre in Marston, was given the go ahead in 2015 but has twice deferred its opening date due to location issues.

The secondary school with sixth form is now due to open in temporary buildings at an undecided location somewhere else in the city in September 2019.

Multi-academy trust The River Learning Trust, which also runs nearby Cherwell School, will operate the school for 11- to 18-year olds.

Chief executive Paul James said: "I think it is fair to describe this as a milestone moment for all of us who have been working hard to deliver the project.

"A great deal of thought and work has gone into preparing the designs and plans and we are delighted that the planning application process is under way.

"Where we are now is exciting, and it is hopefully all about to start moving quickly."

The Swan School plans to admit 120 pupils a year, rising to 180 from 2021.

It is considered as key to preventing a school place crisis in the city as the Marston area fared worse than almost any others this year for secondary admissions.

As part of the plan, a new state-of-the-art building will be built to house Meadowbrook College, as well as new outdoor sports and play facilities for neighbouring St Nicholas' Primary School.

The primary school's headteacher Paula Phillips said: "We are keen to do our very best for all children in the area and we are hopeful about the future possible opportunities for further collaboration and development across the schools."

Meadowbrook headteacher Nicola Partridge said: "We are excited at the prospect of our young people having a brand new bespoke building."

A free school, the Swan School will be a type of academy, government funded but free of local authority control.

New nurse urges others to help Sobell

AN Oxford hospice has launched a recruitment drive after staff shortages forced it to close a third of its beds

Sobell House says it is losing the battle with the demands of an ageing population and has closed six of its 18 beds due to a lack of nurses to look after patients.

The Headington hospice is in the middle of a major service expansion to meet the needs of its users – but it has not escaped the recruitment crisis across the health sector

Ward sister Rochelle Lay said the immediate goal is to reopen the beds.

Longer term, she added. "With an ageing population, there are increasingly more people who will benefit from palliative care – we need to ensure there is a sufficient number of specialist staff who can provide that level of complex care."

Hospice nurses look after patients in the day centre on the ward, in home and in hospitals

Nurse Elizabeth Mortimore, who joined Sobell in January following a career change from graphic design, urged more nurses to apply for positions at Sobell.

The 30-year-old, who looks after four patients each shift, said. "My office job didn't meet my need to care for people, so I retrained as a nurse and I have never looked back. The care delivered at Sobell House is unified by excellence.

"You are surrounded by people who are all passionate about the same thing – giving the best quality of care to patients approaching the end of their lives."

Car-azy parade

By George Welch

HUNDREDS of classic cars and bikes delighted revellers at Sunday's Wallingford Vehicle Rally and Parade

Car buffs were dazzled – not only by the bright spring sun – but by the array of vehicles that meandered through the market town and parked up on the Kinecroft

Ferraris, Lamborghinis, retro Minis – and even campervans and a boat – were ogled at by motoring buffs in the 15th running of the rally

Tickets for the parade sold out within an hour when they went on sale in February

There were also 10 golden tickets which allowed the lucky winners to be in the parade just behind the leading vehicle carrying the mayor of Wallingford.

A statement on the group's Twitter page read afterwards: "We would like to thank everyone for supporting the event, donating so generously and helping out in so many ways."

Man invented two fake IDs to avoid a £100 fine

By Owen Hughes

A NORTH Oxfordshire man has been jailed for 12 months after his web of lies to get out of a speeding fine led to an Interpol investigation.

Christopher Henry, 52, of Church Road in Weston-on-the-Green near Bicester, was branded a 'fantasist' akin to 'Walter Mitty' by the judge during his sentencing at Winchester Crown Court on May 9.

Henry was driving his ex-wife's Freelander when he was caught speeding by a mobile camera van on the A343 in Hampshire in February 2016.

Rather than accept a £100 fine and three points, Henry embarked on an extraordinary trail of deceit.

He intercepted the speeding ticket in his ex-wife's post where the Freelander was registered and completed the paperwork in her name claiming a French man, living at his address, was the driver and new owner.

Paperwork was sent to the fictional French national before being promptly returned to police claiming a man on the Isle of Lewis called George Harris was actually the driver.

Officers found no record of either man and contacted Interpol who found the name given was that of a wax museum in Paris and the address was a nearby hotel.

They then spoke to the Isle of Lewis post mistress who knew nothing of a Mr Harris, Mr Musse or Christopher Henry.

Investigations found fingerprints on the original paperwork belonging to Henry and not his ex-wife.

The Frenchman's name had also been given to Avon and Somerset Police when an Audi TT registered to Henry was caught speeding in August 2016.

Police retrieved voice recordings of him calling the AA out on to two separate occasions when he broke down in the Freelander despite denying he had any access to the vehicle.

Henry also provided false dates of sale to DVLA, set up false email accounts and doctored emails from insurers in a bid to cover his tracks.

The jury took 40 minutes to find him guilty of all three counts of perverting the course of justice.

Henry appealed his £800 fine and six points but the case was upheld doubling the fine to £1,600 and he was disqualified for three months.

Two pensioners die after bank holiday crash

TWO pensioners have died following a bank holiday weekend crash.

Police are appealing for information after the accident on May 6 between a grey Peugeot 3008 and a silver Skoda Octavia.

A passenger in the Peugeot, Shirley Crapper, in her seventies, from Swindon, was treated by paramedics but died at the scene. The driver of the Skoda Octavia, also a woman in her seventies, has since died.

It is the second fatal crash on the A420 in the village of Tubney, near Marcham, in the space of two months.

A 51 year-old woman died on the same stretch of road on March 22 after a lorry suffered a tyre blowout and lost control.

Officers have asked for witnesses and dash cam footage of the latest crash.

Contact police on 101, quoting reference 624 (06/05) with information.

Treatment delays lead to deaths

By Owen Hughes

ABUSE and delays in treatment led to the deaths of one in eight people with learning difficulties an NHS England review has found.

Between July 1, 2016 and November 30 2017 a total of 1,311 deaths were notified to the Learning Disability Mortality Review programme

The review indicated that in 13 per cent of the 103 completed reviews of deaths of people with learning disabilities, the person s health had been adversely affected by the care provider

Delays in care or treatment, gaps in service provision, organisational dysfunction, or neglect or abuse were recognised as contributing to the deaths of 13 people according to the Learning Disability Mortality Review

After the "preventable" death of Oxford teenager Connor Sparrowhawk in 2013 and the death of Teresa Colvin, from Hampshire, Southern Health NHS Foundation Trust admitted breaching health and safety law and was fined £2million

Connor known as Laughing Boy, was 18 years old when he suffered an epileptic seizure and drowned in a bath after being left alone at Southern Health s Slade House Headington.

A family statement released on the #JusticeforLB campaign website after the verdict at Oxford Crown Court in March said "Families should not have to find for answers and accountability"

Players take a Vegas gamble

OXFORD pub poker players laid their cards on the table after winning a trip of a lifetime to the US for the chance to be crowned UK Pub Poker Champion.

John Hudgell, left, of the Qzone on Grenoble Road, and Tim Osborn, right, of the New Club on Blenheim Lane will fly to the bright lights of Las Vegas on May 24 hoping to win a slice of the £25 000 prize pool.

The two poker stars will represent Oxford in the City of Lights after qualifying from the UK s largest live pub poker league, VEGAS100 now in its 12th year.

VEGAS100 organised by Redtooth Poker takes in more than 1,000 venues and has in excess of 200,000 registered players

Martin Green, managing director of Redtooth Poker said "We are delighted to finally secure our 100 players for the trip to Las Vegas.

"These are the best pub poker players in the UK so they fully deserve this once in a lifetime trip to America."

Thousands preparing to join scouts but volunteers needed

By George Welch

A RECORD number of people are signing up to join the Oxfordshire Scouts, with more than a thousand wannabe members stuck on the organisation's waiting list.

The number who are part of county groups increased by nearly 200 over the last year, according to latest annual membership figures released this month.

In total there are 2,520 adults and 6,976 young people now part of the Oxfordshire groups.

The annual membership census also highlighted that there are 1,124 young people waiting to join – but more than 150 new volunteers are needed to cater for the demand.

Phil Earl, lead volunteer for Oxfordshire Scouting, said: "I am proud to see that we continue to achieve such strong growth for Scouting in the county.

"Providing our unique programme of adventure and skills for life to more young people is a huge achievement.

"Much of this is down to our amazing volunteers. As one of the county's leading youth charities, we're acutely aware of the importance of all the volunteers in Oxfordshire who give up their time every single week to help others."

The national adventure group has seen an overall increase for the 13th consecutive year with 10,699 new youth members and 9,371 adult volunteers joining in the last 12 months.

The news comes after the Scout Association revealed the results of a survey showing the positive impact volunteering can have on mental wellbeing for those involved.

A YouGov poll found the majority reported having improved life satisfaction and self-esteem since beginning volunteer work, as well as having reduced feelings of loneliness and stress.

Mr Earl said: "With the majority of volunteers saying they feel more motivated, confident and more skilled as a result of the work they do with us – it's not just the young people they are working with that they're benefitting."

But Mr Earl said he is 'concerned' businesses are not doing all they can to better support employees who volunteer outside of work.

He added: "With known benefits to workers' productivity, confidence and the extra skills they are gaining being more flexible clearly benefits employers as well as their staff."

Tributes paid to Oxford teacher

TRIBUTES have been paid to a "passionate and skilled" University of Oxford teacher and father of three who died on the M40 last month.

Tsering Dhundup Gonkatsang, 66, known popularly by the nickname Genla which is Tibetan for respected teacher, died after a collision on the M40 on April 27.

The father-of-three was taken to Wexham Park Hospital, Slough, where he later died.

His family said: "Genla will be remembered as a devoted husband, a loving father and grandfather, a thoroughly professional, yet kind, helpful, humble and patient colleague, a passionate and skilled teacher, and a local and dependable friend with a great sense of humour."

Mr Gonkatsang was the first Tibetan language instructor in the Oriental Institute at the University of Oxford and worked there since 2001.

Toddlers are real Little Troopers up Snowdon

By George Welch

A TENACIOUS toddler led by example as he and his RAF dad battled soaring temperatures to conquer Mount Snowdon

Air Force Sergeant Jon Burt Matthews based at RAF Benson near Wallingford, took on the nine-mile walk earlier this month, with three-year-old son Harry

The pair were part of a group of 70 – including 18 children – attempting to climb 975 metres to the peak of Wales' tallest mountain and raise money for military charity Little Troopers.

Harry who made friends with three year old Poppy managed to walk a great deal of the route without being carried by his air traffic controller dad.

Jon said, "The trek was an amazing opportunity for children and adults alike to make friends with others sharing a common bond.

"Harry and his friend Poppy were two of the youngest walkers in the group and did everyone proud.

"They virtually jogged up over a third of the mountain, including some of the steepest sections under their own steam.

"They had smiles on their faces the entire time and were buoyed on by frequent train sightings and children's songs."

Jon and Harry have so far raised £450 towards their £500 target for Little Troopers

Little Troopers is the first tri-service charity providing support to children with a serving parent. It began with a sponsored climb of Mount Snowdon in 2011

The event has been replicated every other year and become an important fundraiser

Sponsorship funds initiatives such as a storytelling app school resource packs and a summer camp for military families

Founder Louise Fetgan said she is 'so grateful' to Jon and Harry

"Seeing such young children conquer the mighty Mount Snowdon was just amazing," she said.

"It was a really special weekend, full of achievement and pride."

Grandad's wooden cast will help with research

By George Welch

A GRANDFATHER who wore an environmentally friendly wooden cast as part of an NHS study after breaking his wrist has urged others to participate in research to help move things on.

Charles Bee, from Charlbury, took part in a study comparing two casts after falling off a chair and breaking his wrist in September last year.

The 72-year-old was one of the first John Radcliffe Hospital patients to wear an eco-friendly wooden cast instead of the traditional rigid and non-biodegradable fibreglass cast.

NHS researchers believe the Woodcast, which can be removed and remoulded when heated up, has patient comfort and environmental cost benefits.

Charles, a grandfather-of-five, was standing on a chair and attempting to put out an oil lamp in his west Oxfordshire home when he fell and broke his wrist.

He said: "I fell off a chair which I shouldn't have been standing on in the first place. One or two people told me I must have been inebriated, but I just fell off the chair and of story."

Charles visited his GP and A&E at Witney Community Hospital before being offered the chance to take part in the Oxford-based trial.

Patient trial: Charles Bee was given a wooden cast after he broke his arm

"What made me want to take part in the trial, one pure and simple reason, was everybody should put themselves forward for us to move things on," he said.

Patients completed weekly online questionnaires until cast removal and again three months after injury to see how well they recover.

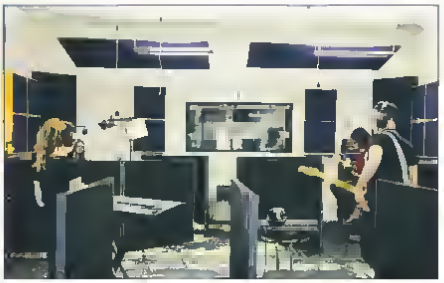
Charles said he benefited from having the wooden cast, as the study team were able to split it along the middle so it could be removed in case of airport security checks.

He visited stepson Nicholas Smith in China three weeks after his injury, followed by a trip to see his daughter Alyson Bee in Australia.

Charles said: "It was quite comfortable. It solved a problem. The major help for me was it was light and I was able to remove it as I travelled."

Contact your doctor about research opportunities. Visit ukctg.nihr.ac.uk for trials seeking volunteers.

An open day on research opportunities in Oxford will be held on Tuesday next week at the Warneford Hospital.



Inside track on music industry

ASPIRING musicians have collaborated with a college specialising in the creative industries to fine tune their sound.

Students from the City of Oxford College visited SAE Oxford's state-of-the-art facilities in Littlemore to record tracks for their EPs.

They were able to broaden their experience by using industry-standard equipment and facilities to record in a professional setting.

The sessions also contribute to their coursework.

The EPs will be promoted extensively via social media and performed at a final major project event at the O2 Academy in Cowley Road over two nights on May 21 and 22.

Nick Reiber Hodgson, music lecturer at City of Oxford College, said the opportunity provided students with an invaluable experience of recording in a live lounge setting.

Second year student Ollie Rodgers is a member of indie rock band Eunoia.

He said: "Recording at SAE Institute in Oxford was an amazing experience. It gave a real insight into the recording processes, which ran seamlessly and without fault.

"Overall, a stellar performance and opportunity from SAE with outstanding facilities and staff supplying us with a backbone for our upcoming EP for Eunoia."

SAE, which offers degrees and short courses in audio, film, the music business and web development, will host an assessed gig for first year music students on May 24.

Pets' gift for royal couple

A MENAGERIE of homeless pets in Burford has given a rather unique royal wedding gift that s not to be sniffed at

The Blue Cross Pet Choir banded together to record a tough rendition of Here Comes The Bride as the charity s gift to Prince Harry and Meghan Markle ahead of this weekend s wedding

Dozens of homeless pets at Blue Cross Burford including a beagle pup named Marley and Tootles the kitten performed on the track

A chorus of dogs cats horses and rabbits in need of new homes barked meowed neighed and nibbled their way through the 37-second performance

Jenna Martyn Blue Cross Burford centre manager said "We know that Meghan Markle is a huge fan of rescue pets and the fantastic support she provides for animals is something we want to celebrate

"To say congratulations to the royal couple on their wedding day our homeless pets have given something special they ve given a gift of song with this rendition of Here Comes The Bride

"Each pet seen and heard is desperately looking for their new family and we hope this loving wedding season will help them sing their way into loving new homes "

The track can be viewed on YouTube at https://youtu be/uCDfpBEDjc0

Children's letters to PM

A WALLINGFORD mother fighting for a life-changing drug for her daughter has campaigned for hundreds of children to write to the Prime Minister

Zoe Bagley's four-year-old daughter Grace has genetic disorder cystic fibrosis that affects her lungs It has already led to multiple long-term stays in hospital during her short life

Campaigners have been battling to get a drug prescribed on the NHS called Orkambi, which could slow the decline in lung function by half in patients with a particular strain of CF

More than 100 children have written letters to Theresa May to ask for Orkambi to be available in the UK.

The letters organised by the Cystic Fibrosis Trust will be hand delivered to 10 Downing Street on June 16, among them are letters from Grace's six-year old brother Edward and his school friends

He wrote: "My little sister has CF Please can you give her Orkambi so she doesn t have to go into hospital all the time "

Discussions between Orkambi manufacturers Vertex and NHS England have been slow moving as the organisations negotiate over costs but are due to meet again next Friday

Pupils promote walking benefit and road safety

TIME is running out for primary schools to get involved with a new road safety project that focuses on giving children the right to walk safely in their communities.

Thousands of children aged four to 11 from across the UK will put their best feet forward next month to promote road safety and the health benefits of walking.

Eight Oxfordshire schools including nearly 1,000 pupils have registered with road safety charity Brake's Kids Walk (previously known as the Giant Walk.

One of those is Mabel Prichard Special School in Oxford. Deputy headteacher Amanda Makoka said: "Pupils want to feel safe when they are out and about in their community.

"We believe by taking part in the kids' walk we will be able to spread the important message to road users and pedestrians."

The short, supervised walks will take place on Wednesday, June 13 at or around schools with children walking in a crocodile formation and holding hands to promote the importance of kids being able to walk without fear.

Registered schools receive a free action pack full of posters, banners, lesson plans, assembly presentations and activities to help run the event.

For more information and to register visit brake.org.uk/kidswalk

Outdoor fun. Participants had a great time at Wychwood Project's recent whittling day

Children set to go wild at summer camps

YOUNGSTERS are gearing up for a summer camp encompassing nature, key educational skills and fun.

Conservation charity The Wychwood Project is running its Go Wild children's summer camp for eight to 12 year olds at the Ascott-under-Wychwood Conservation Centre in west Oxfordshire.

Organisers said the emphasis of the five-day camp will be on outdoor activities and fun including building wildlife boxes, walks and jam making.

Learning officer Toby Swift said: "The summer holidays are the ideal time to get active outdoors and we are hoping to offer youngsters an unforgettable introduction to the natural world they see around them, through a host of activities.

"Ascott-under-Wychwood Conservation Centre offers us ideal facilities for safe, fun learning right in the heart of the historic Wychwood Forest area.

"I am really looking forward to what should be a delightful week with lots of young people taking part."

The Go Wild camp will run from August 13-17.

Visit wychwoodproject.org.uk for more information and to book.

Join teddy bears

SCHOOLCHILDREN across Oxfordshire will take part in the Ginormous Teddy Bears Picnic to raise money for charity.

The Murray Parish Trust founded by actress Sarah Parish, will hold the event during June, encouraging schools and community groups to host their own picnics.

It is free to participate with a suggested donation of £1 per child.

Money raised will go towards a £2m target needed to complete the Children's Emergency and Trauma Department at Southampton Hospital.

May picture removed to prevent messages

By George Welch

AN Oxford University picture of Theresa May has been taken down to protect it from student protests.

The picture of the Conservative Prime Minister, part of the university's celebration of women who had studied at the world-renowned institution, had been "obscured" by critical messages.

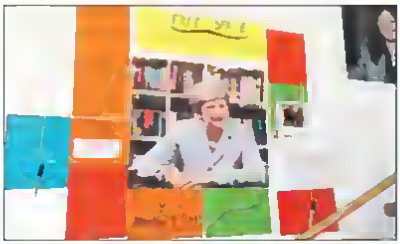
The portrait was plastered with messages about political issues including immigration, the Windrush generation and Brexit.

"We are pleased to announce that the @theresa_may portrait has been removed from @oxfordgeography! the Not All Geographers campaign announced last week.

But it was not taken down for the reasons they claimed. In a statement, a university spokesperson said: "The portrait was being obscured by posters bearing various messages, so it was taken down and will be re displayed so it can be seen as intended."

Justifying its action, Not All Geographers campaign said: "[We] have creatively intervened for geographers everywhere to challenge the installation of a Theresa May portrait in Oxford Geography without consultation of the student body (at least).

"This is unacceptable and does little to inspire confidence in critical thought."



Protests: Students posted messages obscuring the picture of Theresa May

Universities Minister Sam Gyimah said it was "utterly ridiculous that even portraits are being no-platformed", adding that the university faculty should "get a grip and put the portrait back in a more prominent place".

Mrs May graduated with a second class degree from St Hugh's in 1977.

In a note alongside the picture, Mrs May – who studied there from 1974 to 1977 – said: "I remember the School of Geography as a great place to meet, learn and enjoy finding out more about our world.

"A greater understanding of the diversity and complexity of our world and a respect for our environment, which I learnt in my degree, have stood me in good stead in my chosen career."

But the decision to display Mrs May's photograph was criticised by some students.

DPhil student Andrew Dyer posted on Twitter: "(Not so) Great to see @theresa_may placed alongside Doreen Massey in @oxfordgeography @UniofOxford, apparently one of the best alumnae we have.

"I don't really wish to celebrate a hostile environment for immigrants, if I'm honest."

Where the portrait has been re-displayed has not been confirmed.

InBrief

Helping families

THE Midcounties Co-operative in Oxfordshire provided enough food to feed 416 families for three days in the last year

Employees and shoppers at dozens of stores across the county donated more than 16,400 food items and supplies last year

Demand for food parcels has risen for the ninth year in a row, the retailer said.

Follow ancient trail

RUNNERS walkers and cyclists will have several opportunities this summer to follow a 5,000-year-old path through Oxfordshire.

Following a route used since prehistoric times by travellers herdsmen and soldiers, the 87-mile Ridgeway passes through ancient landscapes which were once home to hillforts through downland, secluded valleys and woodland.

Visit tinyurl.com/ya6f7q5v for a calendar of events and more details.

Talking murder

DAME Katherine Grainger and Professor Anne Marie Kilday will host a talk on murder and murderers, discussing how death fascinates people in the modern age

Part of Oxford Brookes University's Think Human festival the academic talk will be held on Tuesday, 6pm to 7pm at the John Henry Brookes Building, Headington campus

Art helping children to express themselves and develop skills

By George Welch

PAINTING, pottery and sculptures will be among the creations decorating venues across the county this month for Oxfordshire Artweeks 2018.

But there was an extra special piece of artwork proudly on display during the first week of the arts and crafts extravaganza.

Eight terminally ill children from Helen & Douglas House made 12 individually designed nature-inspired pieces of art.

The works of art were hung proudly in the heart of the Cotswolds at a Sculpture at Kingham Lodge event

Gemma Radnor, play specialist at the Headington charity said the artwork helped children express themselves

She said: "Play is one of the most important parts of childhood, especially for children with a terminal illness. It is an integral part of the holistic care we offer as it is vital for children's development.

"It allows children to explore their world, process and express their feelings, and develop new skills.

"This can lead to increased confidence and self-esteem building resilience to the challenges they face. Play can bring simple joy to children, cherished even more by those who are seriously ill."

Sculpture at Kingham Lodge has supported Helen & Douglas House since its launch in 2012 – but this year was the first time terminally ill children have been involved.

Alison Hooker, community fundraiser at Helen & Douglas House said the hospice is 'so grateful for Kingham Lodge's support, adding that it was 'really exciting' for the kids to be involved.

Marina Colville, one of the organisers, said: "We have had connections with Helen & Douglas House for many years and were inspired to raise money for them by the amazing stories of parents of children who had been helped by the hospice

"When we launched Sculpture at Kingham Lodge in 2012 we instinctively knew Helen & Douglas House would be one of our chosen charities."

Held biennially Sculpture at Kingham Lodge has welcomed thousands of visitors and raised more than £80,000 for charity

THE OXFORD PAPER

Authors prove they have the write stuff

TALENTED Oxfordshire writers put pen to paper for the fourth annual writing competition as two authors add another chapter to their story

This year's winners of the Oxfordshire Library Service's Short Story Competition 2018 are Phoebe Haywood, 16 in the young adult category and Louise Brakespear in the adult category

The competition showcases the breadth of writers from across the county by making their stories available for any library user to read for free on the library Overdrive eBook service.

Burford resident Phoebe won with her story The Glass is Never Half Full examining approaches to life's difficulties, inspired by a visit to a hotel bar while on holiday

She said: "I know loads of young writers must have submitted stories of an amazing quality so I'm very honoured that my story won with all that competition."

It was third time lucky for Henley Library user Louise who finally won the competition after entering twice previously Her story A Passing Place tells a moving tale set in the aftermath of World War One

She said: "I'm absolutely delighted, really thrilled. It's nice to think others have enjoyed the story."

Phoebe and Louise's winning entries can be read on the Oxfordshire Library eBook website at. https //bit.ly/2KMpWMI

Full of Pride in rainbow bus

THE streets of Oxford will become a little brighter with a rainbow-coloured bus celebrating Oxford Pride.

Passengers can keep an eye out for The Oxford Bus Company's eye-catching new bus as it supports diversity and the Oxford Pride group.

Decked out in Pride's rainbow colours the dazzling City bus has been transformed to brighten up Oxford's streets.

Bus 387 which serves Abingdon and other City routes was branded with the new livery and the slogan 'proudly supporting Oxford Pride'

This year's theme is 'True Colours', celebrating the diversity of the Oxfordshire community and aiming to raise awareness and inclusivity of all LGBT+ people

The bus company selected Oxford Pride as one of its 2018 community and charity partners.

Managing director Phil Southall said: "The bus looks fantastic and we are proud to back Oxford Pride.

"One of our core values is embracing diversity and it is this important every day philosophy that inspires us to support organisations like Oxford Pride."

Oxford Pride videos have already been shown on 41 buses, reaching an average of 100,000 people per week.

Oxford Pride 2018 takes place between May 25 and June 3 with Pride Day featuring a parade on Saturday, June 2

PAIN FREE DENTISTRY

Dentistry has evolved and your desire to have lovely and healthy teeth delivered in a modern, pain-free and relaxing manner is a realistic expectation. At The White Bridge Clinic, systems have been implemented to ensure you receive the most comfortable treatment, from pain-free injections to no more impressions and total relaxation with sedation we strive to make your visits the best you have ever had.

Fear of injections is now a thing of the past. Come and experience the future of advanced dentistry.

SEDATION

Is your dental anxiety preventing you from having your dental treatment? If so, sedation is the perfect answer for you. With intravenous sedation, you will become drowsy and unaware of the treatment, but you will still be able to co-operate with the dentist.

Most dental anxieties are overcome with our caring and relaxing approach to your dental care, however, sedation is useful when treatment is urgent, complex or anxieties are very high. Our long-term goal is to build your confidence and a preventative regime Treatments are therefore simple so that your trust and confidence will grow enough to not need sedation long term.

We believe in getting to know our patients and in doing so we allocate longer appointment times as we want to ensure you are receiving the highest quality of care. We want the time you spend at the practice to be as comfortable as possible.

If you are nervous about visiting the dentist or having injections, talk to our team today

QUICKSLEEPER 5

An innovative computerised anaesthetic system is available to our patients in our commitment to giving you the most comfortable experience available. This device allows you to have one or several teeth anaesthetised painlessly and quickly, leaving you with no numb lips and cheeks as associated with old fashion injection techniques. This means less time for you in the dental chair and quick recovery time following your treatment allowing you to get on with your day

TRIOS INTRAORAL SCANNER

Many patients do not like the putty moulds in their mouths and for some, it can be a reason not to go to the dentist. At The White Bridge Clinic, an investment has been made in the state of the art digital scanner which replaces the old fashion putty moulds. Through a series of photos (thousands), an image of the teeth is taken. Not only does this increase the comfort of your visits but the quality is far higher and accurate than conventional impressions

Out About

Fabulous fest for foodies

By Samantha McGregor

THE magnificent grounds of Blenheim Palace will be transformed into a foodie's paradise over the next bank holiday weekend.

This year's festival will feature more demos, more local producers and more tastings than ever before, ensuring tastebuds will be well and truly tickled.

Alongside the fantastic range of food, drink and activities for the whole family to enjoy, there will be guest appearances from Michelin-starred Oxfordshire chef Raymond Blanc and winner of this year's MasterChef, Kenny Tutt.

The Blenheim Palace Food Festival from May 26 to 28 will boast 130 stalls featuring mouthwatering treats from artisan bakers, craft brewers, gin distillers, gourmet burgers, international cuisine, traditional ice cream and handmade sweets.

Last year's event attracted more than 25,000 visitors and organisers are expecting more through the splendid gates this year.

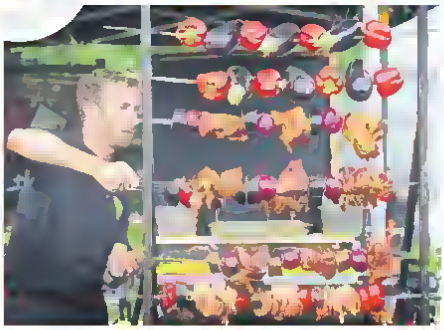
Festival organiser, Jeff Harper, from the Fantastic British Food Festivals is really excited about this year's event.

He said: "We've organised fascinating masterclasses with food and drink experts, including one of the world's most respected chefs, Raymond Blanc.

"Masterchef 2018 champion Kenny Tutt is cooking one of his triumphant dishes in the demo tent and is available for a Q&A session.

"Other guests include Great British Bake Off winner Sophie Faldo to share her baking secrets, Emily Watkins, chef proprietor of the award-winning Kingham Plough [near Chipping Norton] and talented Andrew Scott from Sudbury House [Faringdon].

"The Lunch Box Doctor, Jenny Tschiesche, is available to offer nutritional advice for children and the incredibly charismatic truffle and mushroom hunter, Melissa Waddingham will discuss fungi foraging!"



New for this year in the palace pleasure gardens is the Cheese and Chilli zone showcasing the finest of both available.

And if all that's not enough entertain the family with strolling musicians and storytellers and then explore the pleasure gardens' maze and adventure playground while the children – and perhaps adults too – run off some of the fabulous food they sampled around the grounds.

To enjoy the festival you will need a Park & Garden ticket or a valid annual pass – adult tickets £13.50, children £6.50, concessions £10.50 or family tickets £37.50.

Superheroes' night's dream

By Samantha McGregor

A "RIOTOUS" reinterpretation of one of Shakespeare's best loved plays A Midsummer Night's Dream comes to Oxford this month.

Arguably Shakespeare's most fun play, it is packed full of mischievous fairies matchmaking gone awry and music aplenty

But this Lyric Hammersmith and Filter Theatre's production takes it a step further – it also throws in stand-up comedy live rock music and superheroes to boot

A Midsummer Night's Dream takes to the stage at the Oxford Playhouse for a week-long run until Saturday May 19

Originally staged in 2012, it was revived by the Lyric in 2016 and has toured across the world to rave reviews

The unique and irreverent twist to this classic tale of young lovers and warring fairies makes it the ideal show for Shakespeare novices and die-hard fans and is the perfect introduction to Shakespeare for teenagers

A Midsummer Night's Dream was written by the Bard in 1595/96 and consists of four interconnecting plots set around the marriage of Theseus the Duke of Athens to Hippolyta, the former queen of the Amazons

Hermia wants to marry Lysander but her father wants her to marry Demetrius so the pair plot to elope

Meanwhile her friend Helena who is in love with Demetrius herself tells him of the lovers' plan to elope in a bid to win his affection

That night they all set out into the forest just as a group of tradesmen known as the Mechanicals are rehearsing a play which they intend to stage to celebrate the king's marriage, and the Fairy King Oberon has sent his servant Puck to find a magic plant that will cast a spell on the Fairy Queen Titania to make her fall in love with the first person she sees. What could possibly go wrong?

Tickets for A Midsummer Night's Dream at Oxford Playhouse start at £10 and are available from the ticket office on 01865 305305 or go to oxfordplayhouse.com

Belshazzar's Feast Paul Hutchinson and Paul Sartin are at The White Horse in Oxford tomorrow Picture: Luke Pajak

Enjoy a feast of folk music

JUST back from performing in Australia at the National Folk Festival, folk duo Belshazzar's Feast head out on a UK tour, which includes a stop in Oxford.

Comprising Paul Hutchinson, of HooverThe Dog and Paul Sartin, who worked with Bellowhead and is a current member of Faustus, the duo are now in their 23rd year together celebrating their unique sound of traditional folk music with a touch of classical and jazz, pop, music hall and topping it off with their own brand of wry humour

They take to the stage at Oxford Folk Club The White Horse tomorrow

Paul Hutchinson said "We're delighted to be making a long-awaited return to the wonderful Oxford Folk Club – home from home as it's one of the first venues to have booked us 20 years ago!

"This will be another chance to see old friends and meet new ones and to wreak havoc at the Club and at BBC Radio Oxford during the afternoon I hope Oxford is ready for us."

Belshazzar's Feast received a coveted nomination for the Best Duo Award at the 2010 BBC Folk Awards and are regulars at folk festivals across the summer as well as touring including a popular annual Christmas tour of seasonal songs and tunes

For tickets, which cost £8/9, available by calling 01865 768128 or 01865 790106, or view oxfordfolkclub.com

Dance stars of the future

YOUNG stars will have the chance to shine when Central School of Ballet's renowned graduate performing company Ballet Central embarks on its annual nationwide tour

Under the artistic direction of Christopher Marney, Ballet Central's diverse range of dance and theatre will perform in 20 towns and cities across England and Wales and will be dancing at The Theatre, Chipping Norton on June 2.

This season's repertoire is a testament to the distinguished choreographers who support the young dance company. Matthew Bourne of New Adventures provides Fairies Prologue from his gothic-reworking of Sleeping Beauty and for the first time, Ballet Central will present an excerpt from FAR by multi award-winning choreographer and director Wayne McGregor.

After the success of last year's Romeo & Juliet, choreographer Jenna Lee returns with her brand new creation Black Swan...a dark twist on the iconic classic.

To follow, and celebrating the life and work of Kenneth MacMillan, there will be an excerpt from MacMillan's rarely-seen 1963 ballet Valley of Shadows inspired by Georgio Bassani's haunting novel The Garden of the Finzi-Continis.

To close the performance, Marney will revive scenes from Christopher Gable's Cinderella on the 25th anniversary of its creation, set to an acclaimed score by Ballet Central's resident composer Philip Feeney.

Anniversary performance: Ayca Anil and Harris Bastien in Cinderella by Christopher Gable Picture: ASH Photography

Ahead of the tour Marney said: "Following last year's enthusiastic response to our varied programme of dance theatre, I have, alongside our valued partner choreographers, developed a programme for the 2018 tour that offers storytelling technique and drama.

"We are visiting many cities and towns in the UK for the first time", he continued "a chance for new audiences to see this exciting repertoire performed by exceptional dance talent on the cusp of their professional careers."

The cast will consist of students in their final year of a three-year BA (Hons) degree in Professional Dance and Performance in order to gain invaluable touring experience before graduation.

Tickets are £15.50, to book head to chippingnortontheatre.com

Settle in for an evening of one liners with very silly Tim Vine

Master of the one-liner Tim Vine is back on tour, telling lots of silly new jokes, showing off new homemade props and singing some daft new songs.

Vine sold out the entire run of the new show at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe, where he has previously won the award for Dave's Funniest Joke Of The Fringe in 2010 and 2014, as well as taking runner-up spots in 2011, 2012 and 2013.

Fresh from his success on BBC Radio 4 with The Tim Vine Chat Show and on BBC One with The Very Silly Tim Vine Travels Through Time, Tim will be arriving at The New Theatre Oxford on June 5 for an evening of comedy where quantity takes precedence.

Since winning the Perrier Newcomer award at the Fringe back in 1995, the former world record holder for most jokes told in an hour has gone on to perform numerous sell-out tours and festivals in the UK and beyond.

On the back of these shows he has released five stand up DVDs including Punslinger, Jokeamotive and Timinee Tim Tumnee Tim Tim To You, and his vast wealth of material has been preserved in books such as The Biggest Ever Tim Vine Joke Book and The Tim Vine Bumper Book Of Silliness.

Besides stand-up, Vine has had acting success with Not Going Out, The Sketch Show and Blandings on television, and he wrote, directed and performed in the feature film Fearmath which premiered at the Brighton Film Festival in November 2017.

He also presented gameshows like Whittle, Fluke and Don't Blow The Inheritance, was a finalist in Let's Dance For Comic Relief 2013, and won Sport Relief's Let's Play Darts.

Providing support is the comedy magician John Archer.

Tickets are £27.65 excluding fees and the show kicks off at 7.30pm. To learn more or to book, head to atgtickets.com

WIN tickets to The Classic & Sports Car Show in association with Flywheel

Closing date Thursday, June 14, 2018

On 23-24 June, a fantastic collection of world-class classic competition cars, road cars and bikes – some over a century old – along with an impressive collection of military machines and vintage planes will descend on Bicester Heritage for The Classic & Sports Car Show in association with Flywheel. And you could win tickets for you and your family as we have two family passes up for grabs.

The spectacular event will play host to incredible live demonstrations both on the ground and in the air at the historic site, while the Show's Vintage Village will feature period fairground rides, live music performances, shopping and a huge range of food stalls.

Automobile lovers will delight at the spectacle from the finest that the classic car world has to offer taking to the demo track to show off its glorious tyre-squealing style. Classic motor clubs will stage displays and the open-access paddock lets visitors get up close to these magnificent machines, while there will also be an impressive collection of historic military vehicles on display and even passenger rides in the live-action tank arena.

Moving from the ground to the skies, there will be fantastic air displays of historic aircraft, including daily air displays from the Royal Air Force Battle of Britain Memorial Flight (BBMF) Dakota, the Bremont Great War Display Team and the magnificent trio that is the BBMF Spitfire, Hurricane and Lancaster.

The Bremont Great War Display will stage an exhilarating recreation of a WWI 'dogfight', with aircraft such as Sopwith and Fokker Dr1 triplanes showing just how nimble these early warbirds were. Also taking to the skies will be top display pilot and former British Female Aerobatic Champion Lauren Wilson, who will give a thrilling demonstration of the agility of her glorious bright red Pitts Special aerobatic biplane.

Film buffs are also in for a treat as they'll be able to see filming spots that have been used for box office hits The Imitation Game and The Darkest Hour at Bicester Heritage, the UK's best preserved Second World War Bomber Station.

For your chance to win one of two family tickets to The Classic & Sports Car Show in association with Flywheel just answer the following simple question.

Q: What plane will Lauren Wilson be flying in her display?

A family ticket admits two adults and up to three children (aged 5-15). Entry for children under five years is free, parking is also free.

Tickets for The Classic & Sports Car Show in association with Flywheel are on sale with advance tickets starting from £23 per adult, £10 per child (5-15) and £55 per family. Entry for children under the age of five years is free, as is parking. VIP package upgrades are also available, which include parking and hospitality.

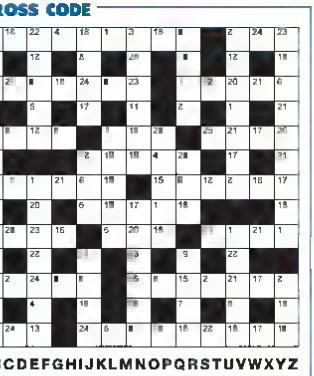
CROSS CODE



ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

Each number in our Cross Code grid represents a different letter of the alphabet. You have three letters in the central grid to start you off. Enter them in the appropriate squares in the main grid then use your knowledge of words to work out which letters should go in the missing squares.

As you get the letters, fill in other squares with the same number in the main grid and central grid. Check off the alphabetical list of letters as you identify them.

MAGIC SQUARE

NO ONE'S PALE-HEADED

Using all 16 letters of the phrase above, form four words each of four letters which will fit in the grid to form a magic square in which the words can be read both horizontally and vertically

Quiz Challenge

NONAGRAM

How many words of four letters or more can you make from this Nonagram? Each word must use the central letter and each letter may be used only once. At least one word using all nine letters can be found.

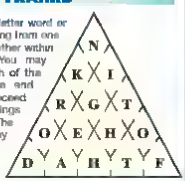
Guidelines:

20 Good. 23 Very Good, 27 Excellent.

Any word found in first Collins Oxford Dictionary (Sixth Edition) is eligible with the following exceptions: proper nouns; plural nouns; pronouns and possessives; hyphenated words; contractions and abbreviations; vulgar slang words; vowel spellings of first letter word (where another variant is also eligible).

WORD PYRAMID

Spell out a 15-letter word or phrase by moving from one chamber to another within the pyramid. You may only enter each of the chambers once and may only proceed through openings in the walls. The first letter may appear in any chamber



FIVE ALIVE

WI	NO	RC	UL	DS
IM		HI		WR
AR	NA	OO	IO	OE
EG		IG		LA
SE	TR	RE	EO	RL

Here are two miniature five-square crosswords using the same grid – but the letters have been mixed up. You have to work out which letters belong to which crossword.

SUDOKU

Easy Each row and each column must contain the numbers 1 to 9 and so must each 3 x 3 box. Hard

EQUALISER

Place the four signs (and subtract, multiply divide) one in each circle so that the total of each across and down line is the same

Perform the first calculation in each line first and ignore the conventional law which says you should always perform division and multiplication before addition and subtraction.

Bloodline Wills

Does this sound familiar to you?

"We've made our Wills, leaving everything to each other first and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could end up with very little - or even nothing at all.

Dear Reader,

Where children's inheritance is concerned our clients want certainty. They want to know that their children will one day benefit from all their years of hard work. They usually come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills with another firm. But often doubts remain in their mind.

Modern family life has many twists and turns and clients worry that having left their estate directly to their children in their Will, what would happen if their son had relationship difficulties or their daughter had creditors pressing. Would their inheritance be taken away from them?

April King Legal are specialists in new style Bloodline Wills. Our free information pack shows you how we can update your Will to include bloodline protection for your children and grandchildren.

Kindest,
Paul King

OUR FREE GUIDE SHOWS YOU...

- How to ensure a child's inheritance is protected from hostile third parties
- The difference between joint tenants and tenants in-common
- Why standard 'Mirror Wills' can put a child or other beneficiaries inheritance at risk.
- How to deal with estranged children in your Will
- Lasting Power of Attorney and how they can help you and your family
- Making a Will for the first time
- How to include or exclude step-children / step-grandchildren

DID YOU KNOW...

"If you have a child who has separated but is yet to divorce then their ex is still next in line to inherit from them over and above your grandchildren from that marriage. Should your son or daughter inherit from you before their divorce is finalized then they could end up having to share that inheritance with their estranged spouse. April King's free information pack shows you ways to help prevent this happening and keep inheritance in the family bloodline."

Walking and running for health in aid of Sobell House

Walking is a fantastic way to improve mental and physical health, through exercise, fresh air, time away from the pressures we face in everyday life.

At Sobell House we attach a lot of importance to the overall well-being of our patients, their physical and mental health matters to us. Our priority is on enabling patients to retain their mobility and independence for as long as possible, and to support people in living as well and as fully as possible in the time that they have left.

Our fantastic multi-disciplinary team, made up of occupational therapists, physiotherapists, a psychiatrist and a range of art therapists, works together to ensure patients have the tools as well as the physical aids that they need to help make many of the small everyday tasks that we all take for granted much more possible. Tasks such as putting on slippers; walking to the end of the garden; going to the toilet on one's own, turning in bed, all these tasks can become overwhelming if people are not equipped to carry them safely. We see that this greater feeling of independence and control has a direct positive impact on the patients' mental health.

The majority of the people who support Sobell House have had a connection with the hospice. We find that many chose physical exercise such as walking and running as their way of showing their gratitude for the services that we provided for a loved one.

So we are keen to give our supporters the opportunity to get fit and feel healthy and, at the same time, help Sobell House to continue to care for people living with a terminal illness across Oxfordshire.

Here are some of the immediate opportunities that you can join to come and get fit with us www.sobellhouse.org for more information or call us on 01865857007

The Moonlight Stroll – 23 June 2018 – 9pm

This is our best supported event – hundreds of people come together of an evening to walk for Sobell House and show their support and appreciation for the work that we do.

It is an 8-mile walk through the streets of Oxford, with marshals at every turn helping you stay on course.

Sign up at www.sobellhouse.org/moonlight-stroll

The Oxford Half Marathon – 7 October

If you're a little more experienced or want to set yourself a new challenge, we are now taking entries for the Oxford Half Marathon.

With over 100 runners, last year Team Sobell was the largest single team in the race. Let's try and do even better this year, get your place now and take advantage of our special charity places!

To sign up and get your special code email kevin.game@sobellhospice.org or call 01865 857012

Unfortunately we have been forced to cancel our Forget Me Not fun run on Sunday 20th May. We will be contacting registered runners separately

If you would like to hear more about the work of Sobell House, or keep up to date with our events please email mail@sobellhospice.org

MARTIN&CO

Has the Government gone too far? Is it worthwhile being a landlord?

Bill Cooper co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

This question is at the heart of matter for landlords as taxation policy and general regulations are tightening in response to the growth in the number of UK citizens renting their homes from private landlords

Since the financial crisis in 2008 buy to let has been seen as a low-risk alternative to savings or stock market investments Oxford s landlords have done particularly well benefitting from strong annual rent inflation and strong capital appreciation

Data from Kent Reliance shows that over the course of a 25-year investment, a basic tax paying landlord placing a typical 30% deposit of £73 908 on a property, will generate a total profit of £265 500 after all costs and taxes taking into account the Government's changes

Once the impact of inflation over the period is factored-in, this represents a profit of £162 000 in today s money or £6 475 annually

If buy to let returns look set to continue being attractive why are landlords leaving the market, selling their assets and investing elsewhere? According to Hamptons the number of properties available for private rental has fallen by 5% over the last 2 years in the South of England that s 82,000 fewer rental homes. That at a time when demand for rented accommodation has never been higher and when it is predicted that over 17million UK citizens will depend on good quality rented homes be ng available to them

So, has the government gone too far?

That question is not straightforward to answer Based purely on the economic argument the figures above from Kent Reliance show that buy to let will continue to be viable financially Evidence from Scotland (where a tenant fee ban has been in place for several years) suggests that the ban of tenant fees in England will increase costs for landlords initially but thereafter rents will rise above their historic trend rate. If the supply of private rented homes is already reducing as Hamptons assert, then the rate of rent inflation could be even higher in England than that seen in Scotland

Being a landlord is a business Just as companies owe a duty of care to its employees, landlords owe a duty of care to their tenants. And just as businesses budget their costs to optimise profits so should landlords should budget a proportion of their gross income for reinvestment to maintain their assets

Some changes being introduced by Government are both considered and necessary e.g the improvement of minimum standards in the areas of gas electrical and fire safety the licencing of houses in multiple occupation tightening of mortgage assessment processes and level of rental to repayment cover to protect landlords as interest rates rise However other changes are pure politics and seem certain to have unwanted consequences e g the ban of fees charged to tenants, and the stamp duty surcharge. Both of these risk reducing the supply of private rented properties at a time when cities like Oxford already have a shortage

As things stand Has the Government gone too far? Yes Is it still worthwhile being a landlord? Yes, provided you recognise that you are running a business and are prepared to devote the time to runn ng that business properly

The Little Welly Obstacle Course & Festival Hits Henley-on-Thames!

Bigger, better & muddier than ever before the UKs biggest children's obstacle course The Little Welly returns to Greenlands in Henley on-Thames on the weekend of June 9th & 10th.

Local estate agents Davis Tate are pleased to be supporting the event again this year with signage advertising and local promotion and will be sponsoring the ped area on the day as well as having their own competitors taking part!

With 30 big obstacles over a 3km course, some of which are new, kids will have the time of their life as they run, jump climb, swing, slide and crawl through the wildly popular outdoor adventure series amongst the unspoilt &

rural surroundings of this beautiful estate

This one of a kind experience has been designed for children aged four & over and parents and carers are welcome to join in all the fun what ever the weather in fact the wetter the muddier the better as far as the children are concerned!

After scaling the towering heights of The Web Frame conquering the looming Dark Crawl, splashing through the Mud & Water Pits braving the NEW Spider Tunnel, fearlessly facing the Three Hump Dragon, giving it all for THE Wall, bouncing around in the Foam Pit and balancing on the Long Pole Run, (just a selection of some of the obstacles)! every child can proudly collect their shiny medal and enjoy all the other fun activities on site

The fantastic Festival Village has something for all the family to enjoy Laser Tag, Zorbing, Helter Skelter, Climbing Wall, Whacky Wheelers, pony rides den building, football darts toddler course & Bungee trampolining. The huge stage will host live music & entertainment throughout the whole weekend. Zoe s Waffles,

Time For Tea, Soleluna Pizzas, The Flying Bean Cafe Vegan & Vegetarian Burgers from Freshbox, Lovibonds

and the Proseco Van will ensure nobody goes hungry or thirsty!

There is something for everyone!

"My kids both absolutely loved yesterday at Henley-On-Thames, we all had an amazing time as a family, haven't had that much fun in a long time- great for all the family young and old. when else can you encourage your kids to get stuck in and get completely covered in mud from head to toe?!"

A brilliant day out for all the family whatever the weather!
Child Course & Festival Ticket £19 50
Adult Assist Course & Festival Ticket £9 50
Festival Only Ticket £6.50

Volkswagen Take UP! 1.0 litre 60PS – 5 door

You'll want to Take UP! one of these

By Tony Yates

The VW UP! is a great little car for doing the school run and for all those times when you need to nip into town to do a little retail therapy. Or if you're like me, then you will be the local taxi into town because it's the only family vehicle that's really capable of fitting inside those tight city centre parking spaces.

Power & efficiency

The version I had on test was a 5 door Take UP! which was fitted with a 3 cylinder 999cc 60PS petrol engine and is still one of the best units I have come across in my opinion. Yes, I know pretty much every manufacturer now has a 3 cylinder engine available in their range but I still think the VW unit is the better one by a mile.

Out on the open road I managed to achieve 60mpg as long as I didn't drive it like I stole it. Of course, I could tell you that the UP! will max out at 101mph but to be honest, it wasn't built for speed, so you are probably not that interested. But, if you do fancy a race from 0-62 then expect to be waiting around for about 14.4sec for that to happen.

So, with its 999cc engine, you'd expect it to be slow right? Well actually it nips around the city in a rush and it doesn't really feel underpowered at all truth be told. Plus I recently had to take my children on a weekend camping trip to Ross on Wye (why the sun was finally out) meaning it was full to bursting with all our camping gear, but still – the little UP! just kept on going.

On the road

The little UP! is a scream – it's easy to drive and feels brilliant for such a small car. I own a Fiat 500 and I have to say that the little UP! is as good as the little Fiat – if not that little bit better out on the road, because it's less 'bouncy'. Remember though, this is not a hot hatch, it's an eco-warrior that was designed to save you money as well as being stylish. As for the handling, I decided I would give it four out of five stars because it's as good as the competition when the road gets nice and twisty.

Design & technology

The interior is a little on the bland side – but it's functional, and I like the body coloured dash panel and the centre speedo which gives it a better feel on the inside. Although the seats do feel a little deckchair like, then again, they do hold you firm and that's the main thing here.

There's also an array of kit inside such as DAB radio, electric front windows, 3.1" monochrome screen, SD card reader, halogen clear head lights, LED daytime running lights, power assisted steering, remote central locking, height adjustable three-spoke steering wheel. This list may look a little basic, but remember this was only the Take-UP! specification. If you want to go all out, then I suggest you take a look at the new UP! GTi version which costs less than 14k (3 door version).

When it comes to safety features, the UP comes equipped with, ABS (Anti lock Braking System), driver's and front passenger's airbags, side head/thorax airbag system for front passengers, ESC (Electronic Stability Control) including Hill Hold function.

To sum up

There is no doubt in my mind that VW UP! will live with you for a very long time and you will instantly replace it with another when the time is right. To be honest it's like your secret little friend that will make you feel happy every time you turn the key.

THROUGH THE IMPOSSIBLE WE FIND POSSIBILITIES

LIKE THE PRICE, NOW IMPOSSIBLY GOOD

At Honda we love to rise to a challenge. When somebody said buying a new car will always be expensive, we wanted to prove them wrong. That's why the new Jazz only costs from £199 a month* and why it comes with 5.9% APR Representative, a £1,000 Deposit Contribution and 5 years servicing for just £599. Now it's impossible to find a reason not to at least take it for a spin.

Test it out for yourself

Volvo Trucks. Driving Progress

Advertorial

Your Invitation to new Dealer-point open day at Volvo Truck and Bus in Banbury

Volvo Truck and Bus Centre London, a Division of Volvo Group UK Limited, recently opened a new Dealerpoint in Banbury, in partnership with customer, Cherwell Valley Silos Ltd.

Located at Twyford Wharf, Banbury, the new Volvo Banbury offers a full range of Dealerpoint services, in addition to new and used Volvo Truck sales.

For all parts requirements, there is a dedicated hotline along with a delivery service which is available twice a day. Other services offered at Banbury include a 24-hour national breakdown response via Volvo Action Service. An on-site driver's rest room includes refreshments and welfare facilities.

Volvo Truck and Bus Centre Banbury is your Volvo Truck and Bus specialist.

We'll give you exactly the vehicles you need, from new trucks and certified used trucks to affordable rental packages. Ask for further information on the latest stocks and prices.

Volvo Truck and Bus Centre Banbury supply and fit new and exchange parts, Genuine Volvo Parts. We can supply all makes parts and consumables for trucks, buses, trailers and workshops too, courtesy of Volvo and Roadcrew Solutions.

For repairs, service and maintenance, Volvo Truck and Bus Centre Banbury will keep you moving. All work is carried out in well-equipped workshops by experienced technicians, using Genuine Volvo Parts. We're always ready to help!

Our new Banbury Depot is conveniently sited alongside the M40 with Jn.11 Banbury just a couple of miles away.

Our opening hours are

Monday - Friday 06 00 - 22 30hrs

Saturday 07.00 - 13 00hrs

Sunday Closed - Emergency call out only

Telephone 01295 814000

Our 'Open Day' is on Thursday 24th May at our premises at Unit 7, Cherwell Valley Silos, Twyford, Banbury, OX17 3AS and starts at 10 30am and refreshments will be served throughout the day until 5pm. There will be a demonstration of Volvo products and services and an opportunity to see Volvo's latest Euro 6 trucks and coaches.

For more details, contact Nina San:

Grosjean's misery continues

By George Welch

F1 - Haas

ROMAIN Grosjean has been handed a three-place grid penalty for triggering an opening lap crash which took him and two other drivers out of the Spanish GP

The Haas driver lost his car mid pack at turn three, spun back across the track in a cloud of tyre smoke and collected the cars of Renault's Nico Hulkenberg and Toro Rosso's Pierre Gasly

All walked away from the accident unharmed, but each saw their race end before it ever really began, as Grosjean, who qualified in the top-10, was credited with an 18th place finish.

The Barcelona stewards deemed Grosjean made the wrong decision to try and correct his spin on track and handed him the three-place grid demotion for the race in Monaco later this month.

The Frenchman has struggled so far this Formula 1 season for the Banbury prepared side and is one of two drivers without a point.

A dejected Grosjean said afterwards: "There's not much to say I lost the rear end in turn three and I just spun. If you look at the footage I had wanted to avoid contact with my team-mate.

"Kevin [Magnussen] had a bit of a wobble, I lifted off the throttle, and then the car just went.

"I'm sorry for the others that were involved – there wasn't much I could do once the car went."

He added: "I had wanted a steady race but that wasn't today."

Team-mate Magnussen is 'showing up' Grosjean, according to former Renault driver Jolyon Palmer

The Dane fared much better in Barcelona, taking his car home in sixth behind the top-five of Mercedes, Ferrari and Red Bull.

He said: "I had a really good start. I was alongside the Red Bulls but I didn't really want to fight them as I knew they were much faster

"My job was to stay in seventh and settle down from there.

"I was able to defend well, keep out of trouble on the first lap, so I was happy."

World champion and Mercedes driver Lewis Hamilton claimed victory in Spain.

Round six of the season is the Monaco GP on May 27

Pain in Spain for Sirotkin after rear end trouble

F1 - Williams/Renault

SERGEY Sirotkin found his Williams Formula 1 car's seat so uncomfortable he struggled to make it to the chequered flag of the Spanish GP

The Russian started from 19th on the grid after being hit by a three-place penalty carried over from Baku.

He threaded his way through the wreckage of Romain Grosjean's opening lap shunt when he became uncomfortable.

"It's been a very tough day," he said.

"I had a good start and I was right in the mix before I almost got caught by a couple of spins ahead of me.

"Then I started to struggle with let's say it this way to not upset anyone the problem is with seat comfort.

"It was really massive, I was really struggling with the – you know, just staying in the car."

Sirotkin finished last – 14th after all the retirements – for Grove-based Williams while team-mate Lance Stroll just missed out on the points in 11th.

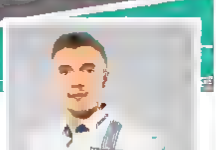
Meanwhile, Nico Hulkenberg's race was over almost as quick as it began as the Renault driver was wiped out in the carnage of the first lap pile up

But Carlos Sainz was in the points for the Enstone prepared side, the Spaniard keeping the home fans happy with a seventh place finish



Impressive final round shoots Eddie up leaderboard

Golf

EDDIE Pepperell heads into the PGA Championship later this month in confident mood after finishing tied 14th at the Rocco Forte Open in Sicily

The Abingdon golfer carded a fantastic five-under par final round to finish eight-under in Verdura.

The Frilford Heath member got off to an inauspicious start with a one-over par 72 in the first round.

Pepperell improved over the following couple of days to score successive rounds of two-under par and lift him to 28th place

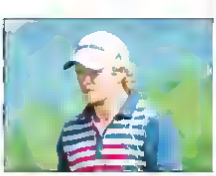
And the 27-year old flew further up the leaderboard following his memorable final day

It did not start well for Pepperell, dropping a shot at the par five second, but he was only heading in one direction afterwards

Birdies at the third, fourth, eighth and ninth followed as he moved to six-under. He picked up further shots at the 10th and 12th on his way to one of the lowest rounds of the day and his second top-20 finish of the year

Sweden's Joakim Lagergren edged victory after beating Frenchman Mike Lorenzo-Vera in a play-off.

Pepperell is not in action at this week's Belgian Knockout in Antwerp but his impressive latest performance in Sicily is timely ahead of the esteemed PGA Championship at Wentworth on May 24.



Promising Eddie Pepperell hit five-under in his final round

Eighth defeat in nine for U's

OUFC women

THE season end cannot come quick enough for Oxford United Women after losing their eighth game in nine with a 2-1 defeat at home to basement club Watford Ladies

To compound United's misery, the away side's win was their first of the season.

Yet struggling Oxford started well, taking the lead at Court Place Farm after 15 minutes

The breakthrough in United's final home game of the season came when Ellie Noble's fierce strike cannoned off the crossbar before hitting the Hornets goalkeeper and crossing the line.

But that was as good as it got for Oxford, who were pegged back just two minutes later, the experienced Helen Ward beating Demi Lambourne with a well-placed effort from just outside the box.

The chances came thick and fast in the second half and it was Watford who got the all-important goal just after the hour mark

Simona Petkova converted a Ward cross from the right for the winner

United had their chances to snatch a point – Chloe Chivers and Georgia Timms both went close – but the Watford players put their bodies on the line to secure their first win of the season.

Whitehead to hang up boots

Football

FORMER Oxford United midfielder Dean Whitehead will retire this summer

The Abingdon-born star played more than 100 games for the U's between 1999 and 2004 before joining Sunderland.

Now at Huddersfield, who secured their Premier League status this season by four points, Whitehead will become part of David Wagner's backroom team before taking charge of their Under-17 side in January

The 36-year old has played more than 600 matches for five professional clubs including Stoke City and Middlesbrough

The former Sunderland skipper, who played for Abingdon Town as a youngster, came on for the last three minutes in the Terriers' 1-0 defeat to Arsenal on Sunday

Announcing his decision on Twitter before the season finale he said: "The day has come that I always feared. After the Arsenal game I will be hanging up my boots

"I have played at some fantastic clubs over my career and am proud of all my achievements."

He added: "New challenges lay ahead and I'm excited for the next chapter in my career

"Thanks to everyone who believed in me and most importantly the fans who have been with me through the highs and lows of my career."

Oxford United 2017/18 season: August – December

Early potential for experimental side as Pep settles in

THE deadwood has been given the boot and the pre-season fixtures have been pencilled in the diary

And that's just as well for Oxford United fans, who will be in a rush to put the 2017/18 season at the back of their minds

Following a summer of disruption, the inexperienced Pep Clotet was charged with steadying the ship of a side who had lost the popular Michael Appleton from the hotseat as well as a handful of star players

The plan was to build on the success of the previous year which included a play-off charge following promotion. But nothing's that simple.

Between August and May, the U's teased their fans as they flirted with the play-offs before dragging them into a relegation battle and a laughable 59-day managerial hunt.

There was no cup run of previous years, but there was at least a positive start, a takeover and saviour Karl Robinson rescued them from the drop.

Here, George Welch starts a review of the season with a look back at 2017

August – Introduction: Gino van Kessel scores a debut goal in the 3-0 home win against Portsmouth. Oxford United go top of the table after two games

September – Rough patch: Erhun Oztumer, known as the Turkish Messi, gives Walsall the lead on the way to the West Midlanders' 2-1 win at the Kassam. It is the middle game in three match losing streak for Oxford

October - Turning point: Curtis Nelson stabs home United's third and final goal in the draw with Rotherham United. United scoop eight points from five matches to move within a couple of points of the play-offs.

November - Too little, too late: Jack Payne pulls a goal back for United against Blackburn Rovers. 3-0 down after 22 minutes, the U's lose 4-2. Pressure on Pep Clotet mounts

August

OXFORD had impressed under Michael Appleton the previous year, with many players catching the eyes of teams higher up the league ladder

Skipper John Lundstram (Sheffield United), influential winger Marvin Johnson (Middlesbrough), towering defender Chey Dunkley (Wigan Athletic) and 2016/17 top scorer Chris Maguire (Bury) all moved on.

This gave Clotet a mini rebuilding job so, utilising his European contacts, he came a cohort of 'Pep Clotet' players that represented relics and memories of the Spaniard's coaching career.

In came the Malmo class of 2010, consisting of Ricardinho, Ivo Pekalski and Agoo Mehmeti, while Xemi, Dwight Tiendalli and Gino van Kessel swelled the overseas contingent.

Jon Oluka, Mike Williamson, Scott Shearer, John Mousinho and James Henry were added to the Oxford ranks and Jack Payne and Alex Mowatt joined on loan.

The uninspiring recruitment record contributed to the former Swansea City and Leeds United assistant's departure in the new year.

However the Pep era got off to the perfect start with the club's first ever victory at Oldham Athletic in the opening game of the season.

Wes Thomas netted a debut goal that day and the striker was on target again in the 3-0 dismantling of Portsmouth in the first league game, sending the U's top of the table.

Defeat at Scunthorpe United and a draw at Shrewsbury Town weren't the end of the world, especially given they both made the play-offs.

Seventh in League One at the end of August, United kicked off their Checkatrade Trophy with an emphatic 6-2 victory at Stevenage as youngster Shandon Baptiste made his senior debut.

The Carabao Cup campaign was short lived however, losing 4-3 at home to League Two's Cheltenham Town in extra time.

September

THE first rough patch of the campaign came in the second month of the season with three successive defeats.

A 3-0 crushing of Gillingham sandwiched by draws with Milton Keynes Dons (A) and Bradford City (A) meant the Yellows started September brightly and on the tail of the early-season pacesetters.

There was some breathtaking football at this point.

But United proved fragile as they lost against Blackpool (A), Walsall (H) and Bury (A) in quick succession to plummet down the table.

The inconsistent performances of Clotet's side were epitomised by the 4-1 win at Peterborough United that followed.

A goal down at half time, a rejuvenated Oxford bounced back in the second half to blow their hosts away. Agon Mehmeti netted the final goal – and his only goal for the club – in what was one of the small number of highlights under Clotet.

October

THE Posh turnaround seemed a turning point.

Back-to-back league wins followed against AFC Wimbledon (H) and rivals Bristol Rovers (A) before respectable points were collected in home games against Karl Robinson's Charlton Athletic and Rotherham United, both finishing the campaign in the top six.

Two goals in the final couple of minutes saw United lose 2-0 at Fleetwood Town at the end of the month, preventing an unbeaten October – and probably a manager of the month nomination for Clotet.

Oxford also drew 2-2 with Brighton and Hove Albion's academy side in the Checkatrade Trophy at the start of the month, picking up a point after losing on penalties.

Setbacks were expected but, while United were two points off the play-offs heading into November, the best performances came before Halloween.

All pictures Steve Daniels

Oxford United 0
Wigan Athletic 7 86

December – Boo!: Oxford fans head for the exits after Wigan Athletic's fourth goal – after just 52 minutes. The 7-0 drubbing is United's worst home defeat

Youngster Owen James signed a professional contract while fellow local lad Josh Ruffels signed a new three-year deal.

Thai businessman Sumrith Thanakarnjanasuth, who would complete his takeover of the club in January was once again spotted at the Kassam.

November

2016's penultimate month began with the return of the excitement of the FA Cup – a competition in which United had thrived – and benefitted financially from – in the previous two seasons.

But, while city rivals Oxford City made history in the world famous cup competition, United crashed and burned to lowly opposition at the very first hurdle.

A lethargic United, who reached the fifth round last season, failed to register a shot on target as they limped to a 2-0 first round loss at League Two Port Vale.

It was little consolation that they qualified for the knockout stages of the Checkatrade Trophy four days later despite a 4-3 home defeat to MK Dons.

Clotet called on his players to reignite their early season performances to end his side's losing habit after a 2-1 defeat at home to in form Northampton Town – a fourth successive defeat in all competitions.

Form heading into the winter was patchy but not disastrous.

A 4-0 win at 10-man Plymouth calmed the nerves before they found themselves 3-0 down in 22 minutes against Blackburn Rovers (H).

They lost 4-2 that day and, while the month was rounded off with a 1-1 draw at Southend United, the exciting football of the opening weeks was steadily fading away.

In the treatment room captain Curtis Nelson, stretchered off against Northampton Town, was ruled out for the season with an Achilles injury.

The defender returned in some huge games towards the end of the season and the club certainly missed the influential leader in between.

Fellow defender Christian Ribeiro wasn't as lucky however after a knee problem forced the right back to hang up his boots aged just 27.

December

THE festive month began with a win, albeit in the Checkatrade Trophy, but serious questions were now being asked of Clotet's ability to get his ideas across to his team which, at best, could be described as inconsistent.

United ground out four points against Doncaster Rovers (H) and Rochdale (A) before they blindly walked into a crushing defeat at the hands of Wigan Athletic.

The 7-0 loss was the turning point of the season – a very unwelcome Christmas gift just two days before the festivities.

Losing so heavily at home is bad enough but it was also the manner of the record breaking defeat that irked U's fans.

The Latics were sublime but the hosts were complicit in a game in which the manager started X-ami, who later had his contract terminated, but left star players Kyan Ledson and Joe Rothwell on the bench.

A lack of a damage-limiting plan B was exacerbated when Clotet bizarrely defended his players in his post-match interview.

A draw and a defeat at Gillingham and Bradford City respectively between Christmas and New Year did little to boost confidence as Clotet sleepwalked into 2018 on thin ice.

With no Christmas miracle Oxford slumped and finished 2017 in 12th place, nine points off the play-offs. They were a place lower but seven points off the top six at the same stage the previous year.

On thin ice Pep Clotet struggled to keep up the early season promise

Next week – twists and turns as United's season played out in 2018

Pastures new: The departing Lee Henderson and Freddie Grant lead celebrations after City's win over League Two Colchester United Picture: Michael Allen

Budget cuts force changes for City

OXFORD City boss Mark Jones has already started making changes to his squad after being handed a reduced budget for the next campaign.

The dust has barely settled on the 2017/18 season but skipper Lee Henderson and the influential Godfrey Poku are among those whose futures lie elsewhere.

Freddie Grant, Ezra Forde, Mamadou Fofana and Justin Bennett have also been released from the National League South club.

Craig King, Eddie Jones, Udoka Godwin Malife, Reece Fleet, Zac McEachran, Connor Stevens and top scorer Matt Paterson have been offered fresh terms.

Joe Oastler and Rob Sinclair will remain with the club having signed two-year deals when they joined the Hoops last summer.

Jones admitted making the decision to cut players for next year was 'extremely tough'.

The manager, who steered City to safety as well as a history-making FA Cup run, made Henderson his captain when he was promoted as manager.

However, like Bennett, injuries scuppered their campaigns and the club felt they could not offer them longer deals.

Similarly Fofana and Ezra were only peripheral figures and have been cut from the wage bill.

Grant said he needed a new challenge and was reluctant to commit to the club.

City's midfield mountain Poku is based in London and looks set to sign for a team in the capital.

Speaking shortly after announcing the departures, Jones said: "I'd like to sincerely thank all of the players that have left the club.

"It's never easy to say goodbye to people that you have worked closely with and that have contributed so well to the team over a period of time."

He added "I do also have to make savings, working with a reduced budget next season and need to build a balanced squad, so difficult decisions have to be made. These decisions aren't easy ones, but as always I try to make them with the best interest of the club and team at heart."

League's sticky situation

DIDCOT Town have launched an appeal after the FA 'made a mistake' and placed them in the 'wrong' division.

Following a major restructuring of steps three and four of the non-league system, the Railwaymen have been placed in the Evo-Stik South West division, the league in which they finished in the play-offs in the season just gone.

As part of the overhaul, fellow Oxfordshire sides Kidlington and North Leigh have been shifted to the East division to join Thame United.

However, much to Diddy's frustration, they have been left behind while Gloucestershire-based Cinderford Town remain in the East division.

A statement from Didcot Town read: "After the announcement of the 2018/19 league constitution, we can confirm that Didcot Town FC have appealed the decision to remain in the West division.

"After reviewing the league setup for next season, it's clear that ourselves and Cinderford have been placed in the wrong leagues and the easy resolution is to swap both clubs which would reduce significant mileage for the two clubs.

You must be having a laugh?! Fans mock next season's league allocation

"The FA have confirmed receipt of the appeal and we await to hear their response."

Cinderford have not officially commented but poked fun at the FA's decision by retweeting comments on Twitter.

Meanwhile, Banbury United will play in the south section of the new-look Premier Division.

The structure of the Hellenic Premier League, step five, has not been confirmed.

The ninth tier of English football includes Wantage Town, Abingdon United, Oxford City Nomads and, for next season, Ardley United.

Ox-Rail test to explore possible safe standing

By George Welch

OXFORD United are looking into the possibility of introducing safe standing at the Kassam Stadium.

The League One club has been investigating whether they can install a safety rail in sections of the East (home) and North (away) stands.

United said that, while there is no timescale on the scheme at the moment, their 'Ox Rail' would be a 'ground-breaking concept'.

The sections would remain as seated areas but the introduction of an additional safety control measure would prevent the risk of a progressive crowd collapse by supporters who have chosen to persistently stand.

The club said an 'overwhelming majority' of the Oxford United Safety Advisory Group members including representatives of the emergency services supported the scheme.

Ian Mixter, head of crowd safety at the U s said, "Although a time frame cannot be placed on completion of the project, the next stage will see the installation of a test build of an Ox-Rail, in front of a single row of seats in the East Stand, to allow the safety barrier to undergo rigorous testing.

"The safety of spectators, both home and away, is paramount and the club is committed to ensuring that this groundbreaking concept complies with the safety standards required by the regulating authorities."

There will be consultation with supporters including OxVox and season ticket holders to ensure that Ox-Rail is safe enough when installed.

Discussions are also ongoing with the Sports Ground Safety Authority to allow the concept to continue within the stadium should the club be promoted to the Championship.

Managing director Niall McWilliams added, "We would love to see Ox-Rails at the stadium and will continue to work with all relevant parties to try and make this happen."

More than 110 000 people signed a petition earlier this year asking for Premier League and Championship clubs to be allowed to have safe standing at their stadia.

Sports minister Tracey Crouch said football fans' have evolved since all-seater stadia were introduced, when she was quizzed by MPs on safe-standing earlier this month.

■ Oxford United will be heading to Ireland for their pre-season tour, which will include intensive training and three matches.

The dates for the diary are: Monday July 9 – Portmarnock AFC; Tuesday July 10 – Longford Town; Wednesday July 11 – UCD.

Oxford United's pre-season continues to take shape with the announcement of a 'double-header' on Saturday July 14.

The U's will play two games that day – the day before the World Cup final – playing away at neighbours Oxford City and then away at Hampton and Richmond Borough the same afternoon. The first team will be split in two.

New training site shaping up for next season

WORK is well under way as Oxford United's new training complex takes shape.

United formally moved out of their previous training base at the Oxford Sports and Social Club last week.

Equipment has been moved out of the buildings and into storage for the summer as the club prepares to move a few hundred yards further along Horspath Road to a £49million sports park.

The bulldozers moved in to flatten the old site and prepare it for an expansion of the BMW MINI factory last week.

When the first team report back next month they will do so where a fantastic new training complex is taking shape.

It will feature six pitches plus a 3G pitch and will be home to the first team, youth team, Under-23 side and academy programme.

Alongside the pitches will be new changing rooms, a gym, kitchens, dining room, laundry and storage facilities as well as offices and video analysis suites.

The scholars will have new larger classrooms, there will be treatment rooms, interview rooms for the media, meeting rooms and storage facilities for the maintenance crew.

Eastwood: new deal

THE U's confirmed goalkeeper Simon Eastwood had extended his contract.

The shot stopper had been linked with a move to the Championship after an impressive two years at the Kassam.

But the 28-year-old has now quashed those rumours by signing a new three-year deal.

Boss Karl Robinson described the former Blackburn Rovers man as the 'best goalkeeper in the league'.
